THE FROCK AND ITS TRIMMING

Braid on Chiffon: Chiffon on Serge.—Cape Collars and Chokers.

New York, Oct., 24.

Winter fashions have been fully settled upon and it is gratifying to say that for many a season, if ever, they have not been as attractive as they are this year. There is a charming variety. Fabrics are rich both in quality and coloring, trimmings are artistic, and designs are simplicity itself.

The simple serge and gabardine frocks, so much favored for all day-time occasions, are trimmed effectively with braid, designs in soutache, Hercules, and novelty braidings; but the touches that render them distinctive are the curious color notes that are being introduced for contrast on many of the smart new French models.

Pink silk embroidery is often seen on frocks of dark blue serge, and a dull reseda wool embroidery is unusually smart on dark blue: this wool embroidery is one of the new notions of the winter; it appears on collars, cuffs, girdles, and trimming bands of frocks, coats and blouses. Heavy wool worked out in a rib effect to imitate wide Hercules braid, is a detail of many of the imported serge and gabardine dresses. The various conventionalized soutache patterns on a foundation of net or chiffon, often edged with a band of a flat silk braid or an edge of fur is much in vogue for trimming the more dressy frocks; the wide braids, in numberless attractive designs, are popular as well. The standing soutache designs are favorable for yokes and chemisettes and for the half belts so much a feature of the smart panel Princess dress. The wide braids are often used for an entire panel or yoke on a skirt; also for cuffs, and the standing band collars which appear on so many of these cloth dresses.

CAPE COLLARS AND CHOKERS Another quaint and becoming detail of these dark cloth dresses is the collar. Many of the plain redingote serge gowns are made with single or double cape collars. Colored collars of all descriptions are being worn; turnover collars of colored velvet add a smart touch to the choker of the simple dress, and the idea of the colored chemisettes of the summer is being carried out for winter.

LEATHER AS A TRIMMING One of the smart innovations of the season is the three-quarter coat of leather, trimmed with fur and velvet. Paquin introduced this at her recent opening and also introduced leather as a trimming for frocks.

FUR—BECOMING AND TIMELY Perhaps the most pleasing thing about the winter trimmings is the touch of fur which appears on many of the out-of-door suits and frocks. The tight, little choker collars of one of the short haired pelts, beaver, nutria, or that smart Russian kimmer, are decidedly chic and most becoming. These collars are being worn with suits and with the one-piece dresses; generally, they are accompanied with a muff, as round as a ball and strongly suggestive of Grandmother's 'ay. Wide cape collars of fur closed under the chin with a stiff little bow of taffeta or moire ribbon are smart, too, with these small muffs.

On The Water Wagon The alfalfa delegate was paying his first visit to a city of any size. Standing on the sidewalk he chanced to see a sprinkling cart coming down the street, and no sooner had set eyes on the thing that he began to laugh like the boy at a minstrel show. "Say, old pal," he remarked hilariously, punching a cop in the ribs, "don't that beat all?" "Don't that beat all?" responded the wondering cop. "What's the joke?" "Just look at that fellow on that wagon!" replied the alfalfa party, pointing to the sprinkler. "That derned chump won't have a drop of water by the time he gets home." —Exchange.

trimmed with wide, heavy Hercules braid; following this idea comes a frock of serge trimmed with sou-tached chiffon.

INTERESTING BUTTONS Among the button noveltes, both for service and for trimming purposes, there is a large gold button, patterned after the plain, four-holed porcelain underwear button; another is an acron button of brilliants.

COLORED FACINGS Skirts are being trimmed considerably this winter; and there is a marked use of velvet and cloth, combined and of velvet and chiffon, and velvet and faille. Many of the skirts are banded with velvet, wide and narrow. Some of the prettiest and smartest notions along this line are the contrasting facings. Early last spring Paquin introduced the idea in a chic little afternoon dress of dark blue taffeta; it is now being applied to serge and cloth frocks. Many of the strictly tailored dresses of serge, gabardine, or broadcloth, show these bright colored facings; the facing generally comes down and finishes the lower edge of the skirt with a narrow piping of the color. Blue gowns are faced with rose, red, old gold, and black velvet; the effect is wonderfully attractive and harmonious.

LEATHER AS A TRIMMING One of the smart innovations of the season is the three-quarter coat of leather, trimmed with fur and velvet. Paquin introduced this at her recent opening and also introduced leather as a trimming for frocks.

FUR—BECOMING AND TIMELY Perhaps the most pleasing thing about the winter trimmings is the touch of fur which appears on many of the out-of-door suits and frocks. Chapel Hill Letter

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct.—What the State Department of Education is doing to eradicate white illiteracy in North Carolina on a large scale, the University Y. M. C. A. is doing for the eradication of white illiteracy in and around Chapel Hill township. Two or three weeks ago Mr. W. C. Crosby, who has charged of the State illiteracy campaign, spoke in Peabody Hall on the plans for Moonlight School Month. After the lecture a few members of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet met and decided to co-operate with the State Department by opening several moonlight schools in the vicinity of Chapel Hill. last week, Francis Bradshaw, of Hillsboro, who is at the head of the rural Sunday School workers of the Y. M. C. A., made an appeal to the assembled student body for volunteers in the moonlight school campaign. He informed the students that within the narrow limits of Chapel Hill township—the home of the University, there were 150 white persons who could neither read nor write. He then outlined the campaign to be carried on by the Y. M. C. A. Seven schools, he said, were to be established, which were to run three nights out of the week during the month of November; but, he added, if enough students volunteered for the work each student would not have to go out over four or five times during the month and thus, would not get behind in his school work. As a result of this appeal eighty-four students volunteered to devote a part of their time during the month of November to this work. The campaign to be waged by the Y. M. C. A. has the active support and co-operation of the University Faculty, the Chapel Hill Community Club, and the State Department of Education.

"Old October's Part" Nigh Gone

Old October's part' nigh gone And the frosts is comin' on Little heavier every day— Like our hearts is that way! Leaves is changin' overhead Back from green to gray and red, Brown and yellow, with the stems Loosin' on the oaks and 'ems; And the balance of the trees Gittin' balder every breeze— Like the heads we're scratchin' on! Old October's part' nigh gone. I love Old October so, I can't bear to see her go— Seems to me like losin' some Old-home relative er chum— 'Pears like sort o' settin' by Some old friend 'at sigh by sigh Was a-passin' out o' sight Into everlastin' night! Hickernuts a feller hears Rattin' down is more like tears Drappin' on the leaves below— I love Old October so! Can't tell what it is about Old October knocks meet!— I sleep well enough at night— And the blamdest appetite Ever mortal man possessed— Last thing et, it tastes the best!— Warnuts, butternuts, pawpaws, Hles and limbers up my jaws For real service such as new Pork, spareribs, and sausage, too— Yit fer all, they's somepin' 'bout Old October knocks me out. Our idea of a hustler is a man who can work as fast all day as he can dress in a cold room in the morning.
